

Call 1996

Caitlin Ferris

AREAS OF PRACTICE

Family - Children

Caitlin Ferris's practice covers all aspects of family work with particular emphasis on public and private law children cases, in which she represents local authorities, parents and guardians. Her practice principally involves advocacy and she appears in courts at all levels. She is also highly experienced in the drafting of documents associated with her advocacy such as pleadings, skeleton arguments, practice direction documents, threshold documents and advices.

Caitlin was a social worker before coming to the bar and has a particular interest in cases involving adult disability.

MEMBERSHIPS

The Family Law Bar Association