Sima Kothari

AREAS OF PRACTICE

Children

Sima Kothari is exclusively a family law practitioner, who has a particular interest and considerable expertise in public law cases involving children. She represents parents and carers, children and local authorities in public law proceedings and adoption applications.

Sima believes that client care is of central importance and this is reflected in her approach to representing clients whether they be parents, local authorities or guardians. Her sensitivity to the difficulties faced by her clients is balanced by robust and realistic advice as to the merits of their case.
